Legendary Opera (as a character) Bonus Hummingbird Regains faith with Ruby's punishment Use water to heal (a little) and provide one-time specials Route Export To Simfile Several more bugs fixed For troubleshooting see the readme.txt file That was the previous version. The newest update, among others, added: The ability to change the weather Rock Ridge & Jacona tolls will cost more The first time you upgrade, you will have to relog The simfile will be named "dual" Icon set "Big" icon on the top right of the map, showing the current route Start camera on "manual" settings Second player view with second player map (Map works) New fonts (AT, MT) New items New background New light (for dark routes) Prevent the route from being modified (you can still use custom one) Curvy routes (work in progress) Decals applied to the train (of course, don't bug this feature yet) New engine sounds New sounds New voice clips (one for the player one for the train) Several more bugs fixed Thank you for your time View file to see what have changed. Q: How to create a static class in Ruby? Is there a way to create a static class in Ruby? I want to override this method to modify the value of the variable itemName according to the request number.

def title itemName == "Item1"? " Item1 " : " Item2 " end end

A: In

Ruby, classes are objects just like everything else. Any object can have a method called title. A method is either a method defined on the class itself (e.g., unless defined on the class, in which case it's an instance method). Or it can be defined on an instance of the class (or subclass, or superclass). If you want to override the method
